

IN PERSON · HALF DAY OR ONE DAY

Building Your Own Brand

Successful business professionals understand the importance of cultivating their brand and they build their brand with clarity, consistency and authenticity.

This course helps you develop a positive personal brand and present it with confidence. You will clearly define your brand and learn how to communicate it consistently. We also explore how your behaviour and personal choices support the brand called “You” so that you can continue to develop and strengthen your image throughout your career.

Who should attend

This course is for people who want to excel in their jobs and build successful careers. It is particularly appropriate for people who are in – or who aspire to – leadership positions.

We suggest a maximum of 15 participants for this course.

You learn to

- See all interactions as an opportunity to build your own brand
- Develop and define your personal brand with clarity
